Presented by Jonathan Waggott - Includes Q&A session

The final outlet in a water system is often where risk becomes reality. This webinar examines the role of taps in Legionella control, temperature stability, stagnation, and user safety. Using real-world examples, the webinar highlights common failures, regulatory expectations, and how smarter tap management can significantly reduce risk while supporting safer, more resilient buildings.

This webinar is FREE FOR WMSoc MEMBERS. Our webinars are open to members and non-members, openly advertised on our websites and a recording of this webinar and a transcript of the Q&A will be made available after the event for WMSoc members to view online.

1 CPD point will be awarded to all live attendees.
